

Fiddler on the Roof Week 6 Address

Welcome back! I hope that everyone had a restful, safe, and enjoyable break. Now, it's time to get back to work. Over break I began to look at the schedule, and one thing became increasingly clear. We don't actually have three weeks of rehearsal left, per say. Due to the holiday events taking place next week, we'll be on reduced rehearsal calls. As a result, we really only have two weeks and some change. Please keep this in mind as we return to rehearsals this week. Everyone must be absolutely committed and ON this week.

We have a lot of different moments that we're working to cleanup and seam into the overall show. If you are ever confused about whether or not you are needed for rehearsal, please ask an SD, Ms. Everitt, or me for clarification. Additionally, next week marks the end of our acceptance of previously stated weekly and specific conflict dates. That being said, this week is also VERY important to our rehearsal process. If you have already missed several days of rehearsal, please be present during every call you have this week. Thank you to those who have had amazing attendance so far. We appreciate and take notice of your dedication n to the process.

Ah, we also have a few new events taking place this week. Beginning on Monday, we'll be distributing order forms from Weezee Wear for the show's production t-shirts. The due date of forms and payment will be announced on Monday. We will also be conducting our Olga's fundraising event on Tuesday night. We would ask that you support the program by having dinner at Olga's on OLR during Tuesday evening. Be sure to take a flyer to give to your server if you attend the event. Thank you for your support!

Well, I hope you had a chance to enjoy a little time outside today. Sadly, for those of us who remained in Michigan over break, it's the best day of weather we've had all break. TYPICAL! Still, it was a nice taste of things to come. See everyone tomorrow... or the next day... or the day after that perhaps. You know the drill.

QUOTE OF THE WEEK: Tevye: "Chaveleh, I would be much happier if you remained friends from a distance. You must not forget who you are and who that man is."

THOUGHTS FOR THE WEEK: What causes suspicion of and separation between groups of people with differing cultural, religious, racial, economic, social, and other designations of distinction? What types of behaviors, practices, pre-conceived thoughts, assumptions, and ideas serve to promote and often intensify these divisions? What roles do individual perspective and insight play in formulating and fostering group identification?
